

Organisational culture & team dynamics

What part does organisational culture play in the dynamics of teams in your workplace? How can you maximise your team's success?

This interactive workshop will explore these issues and get you thinking!

Alana Anderson is a training consultant with over twenty five years experience working as a trainer and facilitator. She provides consultation services in leadership and management, team development, organisational culture and change management to organisations across the country.

Alana received her Bachelor's Degree (Adult and Vocational Education) from the University of Tasmania and her Master in Education (Leadership and Management) from Flinders University.
