See over for Charles Darwin University thesis binding requirements
6. Binding

6.1 At the time of submission for examination, a thesis shall be bound in temporary soft bound form. A temporary binding must be strong enough to prevent damage to the thesis during the ordinary course of handling and postage.

6.2 After the examination and following any necessary corrections the thesis shall be bound in permanent form. A permanent binding shall consist of a full cloth stiff cover. The candidate’s surname and initials and a short title shall be printed on the spine and front cover in gold lettering (not more than ten words). The year of submission date shall be added at the base of the spine.
