

College of Nursing & Midwifery

Quarterly Newsletter

JUNE 2019

The College has delivered some big wins over the last few months. Our nursing graduate won the NT Health excellence award for best new graduate. We celebrated our College Awards Ceremony on May 22 and launched the Molly Wardaguga Research Centre. In May- June we graduated over 200 nurses and midwives in Darwin, Adelaide and Alice Springs. In the next few months, we have midwifery students heading to Indonesia, nursing students are going to Hong Kong, and our new programs for 2020 have been announced. Stay tuned!

Professor Catherine Turner AM
College Dean

Top stories

MOLLY WARDAGUGA RESEARCH CENTRE LAUNCH

Building on over 25 years' maternal and infant health research, the centre will work with communities to co-design services to give communities greater control. READ MORE

NURSE PRACTITIONERS IN DEMAND

Responding to high demand for Nurse Practitioners as identified by NT Health, our re-developed Masters-level Nurse Practitioner course will be available in 2020. READ MORE

CDU-TONGI UNIVERSITY, SHANGHAI PARTNERSHIP

Announcing our first university partnership from mainland China offering postgraduate research training, clinical observation and collaborative research projects. READ MORE

NEW POST-GRADUATE PROGRAMS 2020

2020 postgraduate programs for better job prospects and improved health care for our communities, incl. maternal critical care, mental health and health services management. READ MORE

Appointments

Meet Professor Sue Kildea

Meet Associate Professor Yvette Roe

Research

Australia-Bali midwifery research

Supporting Indigenous cancer patients

More news

2019 College planning day

Nursing graduate wins NT Excellence Award

Making the world a better place

Looking forward to a spectacular career

CDU Nursing & Midwifery postgraduate studies and non-accredited courses available in 2020. Find out more!

Please LIKE and  with colleagues and friends

<https://www.cdu.edu.au/nursing-midwifery>