How to get your new SIM up and running.

BEFORE THE DAY OF CHANGE OVER

Save the old stuff
The ‘Phone Book’ with your personal contact numbers is usually stored on the SIM. It’s important to copy them to your phone before change over day. If you don’t, you might not be able to get them later.

Use the instructions later in this guide to copy your Phone Book to your phone before change over, then transfer them onto your Optus SIM after change over.

Your SMSs and voicemail messages won’t be saved once the change over happens, so make sure you make a note of any information you want to keep.

ON THE DAY OF CHANGE OVER

Swap to your new SIM
You’ll get your new Optus SIM before change over day. Keep this with you because your current SIM will stop working when the change over process starts.

To make sure you’re up and running as quickly as possible:
- When your current SIM stops working, pop your new Optus SIM in your phone and turn it on.
- ‘Optus’ will appear on the screen of your phone, letting you know you’re connected to us!

If you put your Optus SIM in your phone before your other SIM stops working, you might need to switch your phone off and on again at intervals, so that it can register on our network once the change over process finishes.

QUICK TIPS

Steps to follow
- Make sure you store or transfer your phone book and note any information you want to keep from your voice mail and SMS messages.
- Insert your new Optus Mobile SIM into your phone.
