My name’s Calista Hudson and I studied Certificate III and IV in Fitness at Charles Darwin University.

I studied at CDU because it was close by and a really good location.

For me the best thing about studying at CDU was the face-to-face learning and the flexible timetable.

I had a really fantastic experience studying at Charles Darwin University. When I finished studying I thought it would be a great idea to help other students on similar career paths to me.

You can give back to the University in lots of different ways. For me, it’s being a lecturer in fitness, I can help all the upcoming students that are studying in my career, and also can do some mentoring for new students as well.

I think a great way to give back to give back to the University through some mentoring and also attending any functions and events that CDU provide.

I am exited about the CDU alumni network because it’s a fantastic way for past and present students to connect, and particularly in different study fields.
