

There is no timetable for one of my classes. What do I do?

If there is no class scheduled for your unit, there are several reasons why this has happened:

- The lecturer will schedule the class in conjunction with the students.
- The classes will be pre-recorded only for students to watch at a time convenient to them.
- The class times are due to be finalised late.
- Lecturers will post class details on the first day of semester.
- You are studying a VET course so your lecturer will provide your timetable.

For all reasons stated above, students should go to Learnline for further information. Lecturers post important information in this space so please check regularly for updates concerning your unit. Alternatively contact your lecturer or course coordinator for class information.
